By one of those errors for which a printing office seems peculiar about half of the announcement of Judge Noonan was omitted from last week's paper, making it appear incomplete as printed. The oversight has been corrected in this issue. Look it up in the announcement column.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Earnest and two children spent one night here, the first of the week, with Mrs. Earnest's father, Mr. Aug. Hornung. The party was en route to the F. G. Muenink ranch for an outing. Albert Hornung, who was visiting in San Antonio, returned with the Earnests and went with them on the outing.

Harry Carey camped on the Mojave desert for two months to film "The Fox," his Universal-Jewel super "western," which is to be shown at the Airdome August 26. The picture was filmed in August and the thermometer broke at 130. That the magnificent scenery was worth the sweltering ordeal will be the opinion of those who appreciate the far-flung vistas of the West.

The teachers of Medina county rural schools will again attend the joint institute, along with some fifteen other Southwest Texas counties, from September 4th to 8th, inclusive. The Institute will be held at Brackenridge High School and will be conducted by Prof. Jeremiah Rhodes, Superintendent of San Antonio city schools. Prof. W. N. Saathoff of Medina county is a member of the Executive committee.

E. Reddick, a representative of the Old Spanish Trail Association, traveling west over the trail to re-mark the road and gather information for a tourist map, visited our town Wednesday, August 17th. Mr. Reddick says: "The Old Spanish Trail never stops work or lets work go undone. The Association is for good roads and is working for the benefit of the public in general."

Several new announcements have been added to our announcement column this week. C. C. Rogers is out for Sheriff, Joe F. Bader announces for re-election to that office, as do Prof. Saathoff for Superintendent and Judge A. M. Lamm for Justice of the Peace. Henry Batot announces for Commissioner from Precinct No. 1, thus making a three cornered race for that office. There are rumors of others yet to come, but in all probability the lists are full for the final try-out.

Mesdames John Finger, Robert Decker and Fletcher Davis were hostesses to the Ladies' "42" Club on Thursday afternoon from four to six at the American Legion Hall.

After a number of interesting games the guests were taken to "Hutzel's" where delicious refreshments consisting of pineapple sherbet and two kinds of cake were served. The favors were varicolored zenias.

An automobile accident that might have been serious came off luckily when Thursday evening Horace Kindelon, driving the heavy family car, and Paul Renken in his light truck, had a collision near Gaines' Garage. Damaged axels, wheels and other parts of the truck and slight damage to the car were the results. The drivers were not hurt seriously, and the owner of the car is willing to pay the repairs for both vehicles.

Mr. J. Steigh, who is interested in the Taft-Tex Oil Company, now operating in Medina county, sends his subscription for the Anvil Herald and Fletcher's Farming from Taft, California, and writes that he wants to get acquainted with Medina county through their columns. He says of his company: "We are all a good bunch of oil workers and if there is any oil there we will sure find it." The oil is here, all right, and all of us are hoping the Taft-Tex people will be successful in locating it.

Other people may complain of dull times just now but County Clerk Jungman will not be one of the number for some time to come. It is not often a clerk has to record an entire book, and one of considerable size, but that is what faces the clerk just now. This document is a deed of trust given by the Empire Gas and Fuel Company of Oklahoma to the Equitable Trust Company of New York and covers holdings by the Company in Medina County. The document contains some 80,000 words in the form of a printed pamphlet, and its recording involves an immense amount of work. The sum involved is a mere bagatelle—some $45,000,000. Of course, all the holdings covered by the document do not lie in Medina county, but are scattered over various states.

The Ina Oil Company, drilling on the George Schmidt ranch, after encountering great obstacles in the nature of water and gravel, now has a clear, dry hole and is making splendid progress, and up to Thursday morning the drill had reached a depth of 150 feet. For thirty-odd feet the gravel and water gave them great trouble and progress was slow, but now the drill is going steadily down. Between seventy and eighty feet the drill passed through a four-foot vein of coal of good quality, and the promoter regards this as an excellent indication. At the rate of progress now being made some interesting news from this well should be available by the first of the coming month. It is the opinion of those in charge of this undertaking that the oil sand should be encountered in this well between 450 and 500 feet.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Lutheran church here Wednesday afternoon when Miss Lucy Scheile of the Tarpley community became the bride of Mr. Charles Zinsmeister of Brackettville, Rev. G. E. Grueber, pastor of the church, officiating.

Following the ceremony the happy couple went to Tarpley where they will spend a few days visiting, at the conclusion of which they will go to Brackettville where they will make their home.

Mr. Shaw was a former Hondo boy who grew to young manhood here. He still has many friends among Anvil Herald readers who will be glad to learn of this latest recognition of his ability in his profession. —[2 for $2]—

How are small banks conducted? How one small bank was misconducted is an important point in Harry Carey's smashing new super-drama of the West which will be shown for the first time locally at the Airdome on Aug. 26. The story is "The Fox," a Universal-Jewel production, in which the famous Ace of the Saddle does his best work.

Carload shipments this week amounted to twelve cars, as follows: outbound, 6 cars of corn, 1 of Kafir corn, 1 of milo maize and 1 of live stock; inbound, 1 car of lumber and 2 of oil.

A sample of rain amounting to .70 of an inch fell here Monday afternoon, and the dust nuisance was abated for a while. The rain covered but little territory, and cannot be considered of any practical benefit.

Fritz Balzen of Sturm Hill was brought to town Thursday on account of a painful stomach trouble. He was taken to San Antonio on the evening train, accompanied by Dr. W. H. Smith and members of his family.

Paul Christilles of Lacoste is preparing for the hunting season. He purchased from the Ford agency, the Yantis Motor Company, this week a Ford chassis with express body and canopy top, and will be ready as soon as the season opens.

John Bolander and family have gone to Jasper, Texas, for a couple of weeks' vacation.

The farmers were wearing broad smiles Friday morning. Good cotton is bringing from 21.50 to 21.65 cents per pound. It seems to have dawned on cotton buyers that the tremendous cotton crop that has been heralded by special interests is somewhat of a myth.

Medina county has its first producing oil well. It is reported that the well on the Jungman tract is yielding five barrels a day and is constantly improving. Oil in this well was struck at about 450. It is located on the Chicon, near the dam, and the shallow depth at which the oil was found makes it an inviting field and doubtless great activity will follow this strike. There is but one thing in connection with this well that is puzzling oil men and that is the partial stoppage of the gas pressure. This was probably caused by a partial cutting off of the gas temporarily in cementing the well, and when this obstacle is removed there is but little doubt that the production will be greatly increased.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Leinweber and daughters, Misses Erna and Elta, returned last Sunday evening from a visit to the Pacific coast and other points of interest in the northwest, their trip being cut short by the threatened tie-up of the railroads by the strike of the shop crafts.

Mr. Leinweber says we here but little realize the seriousness of the strike and that it is resulting in the tremendous loss to horticulturists and agriculturists in all the territory visited by the party. This is not Mr. Leinweber's first visit to California, and he is by no means impressed by that portion of Uncle Sam's home-land. He says California is deteriorating, the land, naturally poor, is about exhausted, and that some orchards that were flourishing at the time of his former visits, are dying out and he does not look for them to be reset. He reports everything exorbitantly high, and if it were not for the tourist trade that section would be on the ragged edge. However, he was immensely impressed with Denver, Colorado, and the people there are different from those encountered on the Pacific slope, and the thoroughly enjoyed his visit there. The party was gone one month and one day, enjoyed themselves immensely, but are glad to be home again.

The new Goodyear
Cross-Rib Tread Cord

A Popular-Priced Cord Tire Without a Rival

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord Tire is built with genuine high-grade long-staple cotton as a foundation.

It is liberally oversize—the 4½-inch tire, for example, measuring nearly 5 inches.

The deep, clean-cut, cog-like pattern of its tread affords excellent traction even in snow and mud, engaging the road like a cogwheel.

The scientific distribution of rubber in this tread—the wide center rib and the semi-flat contour—gives a thick, broad surface that is exceedingly slow to wear.

This new tire is a genuine Goodyear through and through—in design, in material, in construction.

It costs less to buy than the net price you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown reputation and value.

Why be satisfied with less than this efficient tire can give—why take a chance on an unknown make?

Compare these prices with NET prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires

WE READY TO TURN OUR GOVERNMENT OVER TO KU KLUX?

August 9th, at Flatonia, Governor James E. Ferguson read from the following letter:

Realm of Texas, Office of the Grand Dragon, Beaumont, Tex., March 22, 1922.

To the Exalted Cyclops: We promised the Klan some time ago we would endeavor to keep them informed with reference to the character of the men who had announced for public office in this realm in order we might have our part in improving the personnel of our public officials and to see to it that the governmental reins are kept as nearly as possible in proper hands. At this time our files indicate that Klansman Bentley of McAllen, Texas, is a candidate for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction. Also Klansman Earle B. Mayfield, at present a road Commissioner, has announced for the United States Senate. These Klansmen are highly recommended by their local klans, and hesitate to commend them to your serious consideration. I am Klansman Bentley is the kind of man we would like to have in our schools, and I know that the spirit of 100 per cent Americanism will be enhanced with Klansman Mayfield representing us in Washington. Yours in the sacred unending bond.

For Tractor Efficiency Feed It the Correct Oil

Your hard working tractor is subject to great strain. Without proper care, it will soon wear out.

Incorrect lubrication is the root of many tractor evils. Tractors demand a lubricant of high quality—a lubricant which will stand up under excessive heat.

We are lubrication experts. We base our advice on the Chart of Recommendations.

This Chart specifies the correct grade of Gar-goyle Mobiloils for your tractor.

The economical order to place is for a 15, 30 or 55 gallon steel drum.

We have a valuable book on tractor lubrication. Yours for the asking.

Dick Wernette, who has spent a five-weeks' vacation at his home in D'Hanis, left last week for San Antonio. After a few days visit there he will go to Monterey, Mexico, his headquarters.

Louis Nietenhoefer and daughter, Miss Lydie, were in Hondo Tuesday. Mr. Nietenhoefer was selecting lumber for a new barn. He also paid this office an appreciated call. The showers at his place last Monday were very light.

John A. Wiemers was in from East Verde Monday and informed us that his section of Medina county is under quarantine, due to the sudden appearance of charbon among stock. Several of his neighbors have lost cattle and mules during the past few days. Drastic efforts are being made to stamp out the disease by vaccination and isolation.—Bandera New Era.

Joe Batot and wife and daughter, Miss Lorine, passed through Hondo Thursday en route to their home at Eagle Pass after a visit to relatives and friends in various parts of Medina county. Mr. and Mrs. Batot are natives of this county, and enjoy coming back every once in a while to visit the scenes of their younger days. After a visit with relatives and friends at D'Hanis they will reach their home on the border city Sunday afternoon.

If you have not subscribed for Fletcher's Farming but received a copy of the paper anyway, it was intended as a sample that you and your family might see it and familiarize yourself with it. We are going to try to make it worth many times its subscription price of one dollar a year, but if you are a subscriber to either the Anvil Herald or the D'Hanis Star fifty cents additional will pay for FARMING. Just let us know that you want FARMING sent to you and we will put you on the mailing list and you can pay for both when renewing for your local paper. The copy of FARMING sent you was a sample—and an invitation to subscribe for it.

The Hondo baseball club will cross bats with the Alamo Peck Indians at Schwab Field, San Antonio, tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon. These clubs met in San Antonio about a month ago, the San Antonio team being successful in the contest. Considerable ill feeling developed at that meeting, the Hondo club claiming the umpires were biased in favor of the city team. The umpires in the coming game have not been made public, but whoever they may be it is hoped they will be strictly impartial in their decisions. Hondo asks no favors, nothing but a square deal, and if their rivals prove the stronger team they will gracefully submit like true sportsmen, and it is hoped the coming game will be conducted in such a manner that there will be no occasion for ill feeling at its conclusion.

A GOOD FRIEND

A good friend stands by you when in need. Hondo people tell how Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test. Thos. McCall, carpenter, of Hondo endorsed Doan's four years ago and again confirms the story. Could you ask for more convincing testimony?

"I came down with an attack of kidney trouble," says Mr. McCall. I had such a severe pain in my back I could hardly stoop or lift. My back pained all the time and made it difficult for me to do my work. I had heard Doan's Kidney Pills highly spoken of so I bought some at Windrow's Drug Store. Doan's helped me right away and two boxes removed the trouble."

Mr. McCall gave the above statement May 29, 1915 and on May 5, 1919, he added: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills a few times for a slight backache since they cured me four years ago. I think just as much of Doan's as ever."

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Little Miss Lucy Davis entertained with a birthday party on Wednesday afternoon from four to seven at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Davis, the occasion being the eighth anniversary of her birth. Some fifty youngsters indulged in "Drop the Handkerchief," "Farmer in the Dell," "Guessing Contests," and "Pinning the Pipe in the Clown's Mouth." Little Miss Annie Lee Brucks won the prize in the guessing contest, a toy elephant, and Little Miss Leota Pettus won a toy clown by pinning the pipe "nearest" the clown's mouth.

Refreshments of soda pop and ice cream and cake were served with bags of candy as favors. The cutting of the birthday cake and the drawing for ring, needle, thimble, dime and button afforded quite a lot of merriment. Mary Ruth Wilson drew the button, Fritzie Leinweber the dime and thimble, and Dorothy Mofield the ring.

TO THE PEOPLE OF MEDINA COUNTY.

I understand there has been some criticism of the Commissioners' Court for employing me a bookkeeper for tick eradication work.

I wish to put this before the people on its merits and let them decide whether the court has acted for the best interests of the county or not. On the first of April, I asked the court for $65 per month to pay a bookkeeper, and explained to them that I could do the county more good by staying in the field to see that the dipping was done properly than to stay in the office and keep books; that the thing to do was to get rid of ticks in the shortest time possible and by doing so you will get rid of buying dip and paying inspectors and other troubles and expenses that are connected with tick eradication.

Some counties are paying bookkeepers $100 per month and doing no more work than we are.

I put in two-thirds of my time in the country, giving permits and dipping cattle and serving dipping orders. These are things I am not expected to do by the Sanitary Commission. This is work that properly belongs to a county inspector, and if the court decides to cut off the allowance for a bookkeeper I will have to put on another inspector to do the work I have been doing in the field, and that will cost $100 per month as against $65 for a bookkeeper.

I am more than willing for you to compare Medina county's expense bill with any other county that is dipping as many cattle as we are, and then I am sure you will be convinced that this county is getting the very best service that can be had for the money.

Comparing Medina county with other counties will show I have been economical in the number of inspectors employed.

I have eleven inspectors in this county at a salary of $100 per month each. Bexar county has 15 inspectors at $125 per month each, besides a bookkeeper.

Uvalde county has 14 inspectors at $100 per month each.

Those two counties dip about the same number of cattle each month that Medina county does, and the records will show that Medina county is among the leading counties in getting rid of ticks.

In closing I wish to congratulate the people of Medina county on the results obtained so far in tick eradication work, and if you continue this kind of work I am sure this county will be lifted from quarantine on December the first.

Below are the records of each month's dipping since April the first: In April we dipped 67,501 cattle; 46,401 of these cattle were infested with ticks, or over 60 per cent were ticky.

In May we dipped 98,185 cattle; 20,811 were infested with ticks, or less than 25 per cent.

In June we dipped 97,960 cattle; 14,345 were infested with ticks, or about 15 per cent.

In July we dipped 101,224 cattle; 7,620 were infested with ticks, or less than 7 per cent. And by December 1st, I feel confident we will be down to about 1 per cent.

So the people of Medina county who are not satisfied with this kind of work, and comparative expense, couldn't be satisfied anyway, and if they were not kicking about dipping they would be kicking about something else.

There is no way of satisfying some people.

Very truly,
E. J. MURRAY,
Supervising Inspector.

Navasota, Texas.—Mrs. W. M. Peden, of this place, relates the following interesting account of how she recovered her strength, having realized that she was actually losing her health:

"Health is the greatest thing in the world, and when you feel that gradually slipping away from you, you certainly sit up and take notice. That is what I did some time ago when I found myself in a very nervous, run-down condition of health. I was so tired and felt so lifeless I could hardly go at all.

"I was just no account for work. I would get a bucket of water and would feel so weak I would have to set it down before I felt like I could lift it to the shelf. In this condition, of course, to do even my housework was a task almost impossible to accomplish.

"I was . . . nervous and easily upset.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE (Tablets). It stops the Cough and Headache and works off the Cold. E. W. GROVE'S signature on each box. 50c.

Many farmers are already buying blackleg vaccines preparatory to vaccinating their calves this spring. There is no question but that this is a good move, something every owner of cattle should attend to before it is too late. Once Blackleg has developed in a herd it is practically impossible to stop it before heavy losses have occurred. Not only does it kill the calves, but is also likely to inoculate the soil so that infection will remain for years to come.

Since it is an established fact that vaccination affords a protection against Blackleg, no one ought to neglect this precaution. Parke, Davis & Company, Detroit, Michigan, scientifically prepare three blackleg vaccines, the attenuated virus product, BLACKLEGODDS, as well as Blackleg Aggressin (GERM-FREE VACCINE) and Blackleg Filtrate (GERM-FREE VACCINE), that every cattleowner should learn about. The manufacturers publish instructive booklets on blackleg and immunity resulting from vaccination that are worth careful reading. They are free, and may be had at

FUNDAMENTAL REVELATION in DRAMATIC SYMBOL.

By Rev. J. T. Horger.

V. Adam's Three Sons

By way of introduction, let me say that I verily believe with all my heart that these three sons of Adam are God ordained characters to represent immutable and fundamental principles in experimental salvation, as set forth in the interpretations that follow.

In the 4th and 5th chapters of Genesis we have the birth and biographical sketch of the first THREE sons of Adam, namely, CAIN, ABEL and SETH.

Then in Genesis 5 and 4, we read, "And the days of Adam, after he had begotten Seth, were eight hundred years; and he begat sons and daughters."

The above plainly states that Adam was the father of both sons and daughters after Cain, Abel and Seth were born. Therefore, it appears a little strange that God should give us a historical sketch of these THREE, and ONLY three, sons of Adam. But when we apply the best and most reliable rule of interpretation of the word of God, viz: to interpret scripture by the teachings of other scriptures, carefully construing the whole in harmony with the established fundamental principles of the God-ordained scheme of redemption, then, light begins to turn in on the purpose of God in the detailed account of these first three sons of Adam. In the first and second chapters of this series of articles we set forth at length the fact that the entire plan of salvation is founded and constructed on the immutable principles of a TRIUNE Godhead, a TRIUNE manhood, and a TRIUNE application of the grace of God to each soul genuinely saved from all sin and established in righteousness and true holiness. By the above, we mean that God the Father has a dispensation, into which each son and daughter of Adam's race is born, and through which we all must pass, if saved, by way of inspiration of Divine life and pardon of all our sins, into the regenerate state, which is the dispensation of the son; and thence by way of the Baptism of the Holy Ghost and fire, into a state of entire sanctification—true holiness—which is the dispensation of the Holy Ghost.

Now, these THREE sons of Adam represent the THREE dispensations of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. Cain, in this drama, evidently acted out the part of the unconverted, carnal-minded sinner, who lives and moves in the material things of earth—he was of the earth, earthly. Like the heart of all other unregenerate persons, he was peculiarly disposed to respond to the subtle and fierce temptations to commit sin and crime of almost any kind and character. It is strongly implied that Cain and Abel had been instructed in the plan of salvation, and that an offering, to be acceptable to God, had to be of the flock, thus representing the shed blood of Jesus, the Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world. But Cain, like the fallen, carnal disposition of the unsaved, doubted, disbelieved and became self-willed, stubborn and disobedient, and like the self-conceited, so called moral man of all ages, he offered of the FRUIT of the GROUND, a lower sphere of life, than that of the FLOCK. The fruit of the ground was absolutely separate from, and destitute of the virtues of the shed blood of the cross.

The principle that Cain represents in this drama dominates in the hearts of, they are found, after their own plans, and with their own self-appointed means, trying to BE good, and to DO good, while, like Cain they treat with utter contempt, and steadfastly reject, and trample under their unhallowed feet the blood of the everlasting covenant. Such devotion and service, like that of Cain, God has no respect for, and evidently, like Cain, they obtain no answer, no conscious knowledge of sins forgiven, no realization of the inspiration of Divine life, no transformation of character, no heaven-born peace, nor celestial joy in the soul. God respects not their offering. But when Cain saw his own failure, and saw Abel's success, true to the part he was acting in this drama, his pride was wounded, and his jealousy awoke; and strife arose and mischief was conceived in his heart, and he sought an opportunity to get revenge by a wrangle with Abel, his brother, which ended in the cold-blooded murder of Abel and his own wretched ruin.

Thus God, in the person of Cain, typifies the disposition and the natural result of that fallen, depraved principle called in scripture "Sin," "our old man," the carnal mind, "this body of death," which lurks in the bosom of every unsaved and unsanctified son and daughter of Adam's race. Let us now turn to the study of the part that Abel plays in this God-given drama.

The meaning of the word, "Cain," is "begotten," signifying that he was of the flesh, but the meaning of the word, "Abel" is "breath," or "vapor," signifying the spiritual character, which he represented in this drama. Another peculiarity of Cain and Abel, suggested by Dr. Clark, the renowned and universally accepted commentator, is, that the statement in the scripture of only ONE conception and TWO births, strongly implies that they were twins, which, if true, beautifully clarifies, and strongly intensifies this symbol.

Abel, being a type of the regenerate principle within, has his FIRST application as a representative of the principle and state on infantile justification, which has its origin and birth alongside of, and together with the carnal mind—natural depravity, or original sin—all of which Cain was a type. Therefore, it was meet and appropriate that they should have been twins, Cain representing the carnal mind and Abel representing infantile innocence—which is a state in which all men are born into this world—justification. And the fact that Cain murdered Abel, after they were born, is significant of the fact that the carnal mind always overthrows infantile justification. As it is written in Isa. 53:6, "All men, like sheep, have gone astray." Rom. 3:23, "For ALL have sinned and come short of the glory of God. Then, Abel has a SECOND application as a type of the regenerate nature, in that, "By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts, and by it, he, being dead, yet speaketh."

Abel's bleeding sacrifice was an introductory prophetic type of the mosaic sacrificial service which was continued for about fifteen hundred years, from Moses unto the coming of Christ. These sacrifices were typical of three leading characters and principles, to-wit: First, the atoning Lamb, a type of Christ. Second, the whole burnt offering, a type of the true worshipper. And third, the meat offering, a type of the character produced by the mutual union and blending of Christ and the worshipper. Therefore, Abel, in this case, stood for the regenerate child of God, the product of true worship.

A THIRD significant fact relative to Abel, as a type of the merely regenerate, is found in the fact that he died early, and had NO POSTERITY to follow, to represent the perpetuity of the merely regenerate, throughout eternity.

No, he had no offspring, nor will there be any merely regenerate characters beyond the grave. The scriptures are overwhelmingly clear, that the merely justified or regenerate, have the carnal mind remaining in them, which is an unclean spirit, and it is equally clear that no unclean thing can enter Heaven.

The carnal mind remaining in the heart of the regenerate will overcome the regenerate nature of the believer, making shipwreck of his faith, and a reprobate of him; or the regenerate principle, which is Christ "in you, the hope of Glory," must overcome the carnal mind and bind him, and then, by the Baptism of the Holy Ghost and first, cast the "old man" out, thus preparing the soul for Heaven.

Now, let no one hold up his hands in utter disbelief, supposing that I teach that all who do not believe in seek after, and obtain the experience of sanctification in this life long before death, will be lost. No, not that. But the scriptures are clear, that no unclean thing, such as the carnal mind, shall enter Heaven. Therefore, we, with Mr. Wesley, believe that every true and faithful child of God will be entirely sanctified in answer to their faith and fidelity to Christ, near, or at death. But bear in mind, that it is God's will, commandment and promise that all His children be sanctified NOW. For we cannot remain in the merely regenerate state throughout eternity. Abel must pass away and be without a representative in the eternal day. The wrangle in the soul while in the merely regenerate state, personified in this God-ordained symbol by CAIN and ABEL, is set forth at length by St. Paul in Rom., 7th chapter. The carnal principle or character is represented in this chapter by the phrases, "sin in me," "another law in my members," and "the body of this death." These phrases all stand for identically the same principle and character, as that represented by Cain in the symbolic drama we have been studying. On the other hand, the regenerate principle and character in Rom. 7th chapter is represented by the pronoun "I," which stands for identically the same principle and character as that of Abel, as interpreted throughout this article. Bear in mind, that this state of Grace set forth in the 7th chapter of Romans was NOT the experience of St.

Paul at the time he wrote the epistle, but an experience which he and all Christians pass through—but should not abide in—in the early state of Divine life.

In this chapter, Romans 7, and 9th verse, we read, "For I was alive without the law once: But when the commandment came, SIN revived, and I died."

Let us note that the pronoun "I" represented the same thing that Abel did in our first application, namely, infantile innocence or justification. And that the word, "sin" represented the same thing that Cain did, namely, the carnal mind.

In the next few verses, Rom. 7:10 to 21, the apostle sets forth a mighty struggle between the regenerate nature within the believer's heart, under the minor grace of the law dispensation, in which the regenerate principle is defeated and almost subdued. Then in the 22nd verse, the apostle declares, "For I DELIGHT in the law of God after the inward man." This statement clearly implies a stronger state of regeneration, namely, that which the believer obtains in the Gospel's dispensation; but still the carnal mind—sin—like Cain, is the continued and persistent enemy and deadly foe of the regenerate principle and character, personified by Abel, from its most insidious to its most mature state of development. The conflict between the carnal mind and the regenerate is referred to by St. Paul in Gal. 5:17, when he says, "For the flesh—carnality—lusteth against the spirit—regeneration—and the spirit against the flesh: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would." Note that so long as the carnal mind is not overcome and brought into subjection to the spirit of regeneration, just so long we CANNOT do the things, nor live the life that God requires of us. Again, in Rom. 8:6, 7, "For to be carnally minded is death"—Cain kills Abel; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace: because the carnal mind is enmity against God, for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be. The only remedy for carnally minded Cain is the Baptism of the Holy Ghost and Fire, until he is dead—"Buried by Baptism into death," and cast out from the presence of the Lord, as in the case of Cain. Would to God that all Christians who are merely born of the spirit could realize the presence and heinousness of this carnal minded Cain, the most deadly enemy of the spirit life of the soul, and in great conviction of heart and anguish of spirit, like St. Paul, Rom. 7:24, cry out, "O WRETCHED MAN THAT I AM! Who shall deliver me from this Body of Death?" The answer is, "Through Jesus Christ, our Lord," when He shall Baptize you with the Holy Ghost and Fire."

C. C. Godden of the Biry community reported fifteen bales of cotton out. He has ginned in Devine, the Biry gin not having run up to Saturday, when reports say they were firing up.

250 Bales Reached Devine; Around Twenty Cents.

Up to yesterday noon, about 250 bales of cotton had reached Devine, of the new crop. 119 had been shipped out up to Tuesday night. It was selling around 20 cents Tuesday afternoon.

Wants Devine-D'Hanis Speedway.

The News in receipt of a nine-page letter, advocating a road between Devine and D'Hanis, which the writer says is opened practically all the way, but needs widening, straightening and improving. He dates his letter "Yancey" and it is postmarked "D'Hanis," but it is all fragrance wasted, as the writer didn't sign his name, and leaves us to guess as to who is the author.

The writer declares that Hondo people care nothing for them except to get their money and trade, and that D'Hanis would join Devine in this proposed road that is improved for five miles out of D'Hanis and eight or ten miles from Devine.

Of course, we can't hope for a "speedway" or a very greatly improved highway, but we know that the road is now opened from D'Hanis to Yancey and from Yancey to Devine, and such a road is really needed to accommodate travel between the three places, which lie on a direct route between the S. P. and I. & G. N. We would guess that the writer must live between Yancey and D'Hanis, and there is a fine section over there about the Langfield gin and school. We are for more roads and better ones, and we are sorry our friend didn't sign his name to the interesting article.

The "Two For One Drug Sale" which will be conducted in this city by both W. H. Windrow and The Fly Drug Co. during the nine days from August 25th to September 2nd is heralded as the greatest co-operative drive for lower prices that has ever been attempted by any manufacturers or dealers in this country or elsewhere.

The sale has been planned and made possible through the efforts of the San Antonio Drug Co. The largest manufacturing druggists in the South and more than $50,000 worth of Fidelity Drugs and Olympian Toilet preparations will be given free with purchases by Five Hundred participating retailers in all sections of the state.

The slogan during this sale is, "YOU PAY FOR ONE AND GET TWO." Judging by the list of well known household remedies and toilet requisites which are listed in this Half-Price Sale our local druggists will have their hands full in coping with the crowds who will no doubt, flock to this very unusual event.

On the front page of today's Anvil Herald appears a display advertisement setting forth the details of this great Sale. Both our druggists call attention to the fact that there are "Wonderful Savings Throughout the Store," and state that drastic reductions will be in effect on every line excepting items where manufacturers prohibit price changes.

Manufacturers, distributors and the trade papers throughout the United States have acclaimed this gigantic sale as the greatest step that has so far been taken towards leveling costs of drugs and toiletries. Manufacturers as well as the participating dealers confidently expect that this event will eclipse in interest and volume of sales anything attempted before.

CHARLES O. WALKER DEAD.

Charles O. Walker, aged 53, died at his residence, 621 Chestnut Street, yesterday afternoon after a long illness. A widow, two sisters, Mrs. Robert Bailey of Pasadena, California, and Mrs. Harry Harris of Evansville, Ind., and three brothers, Harold Walker of Chicago, Alfred Walker of Hondo and William Walker of Eagle Pass, survive.

Mr. Walker, who was a member of the United Commercial Travelers, was a native of Wolvich, England, and came to the United States with his parents when a small boy. He was well known among traveling salesmen and was formerly connected with several local hardware concerns.—San Antonio Express, August 19.

Deceased was quite well known in Hondo, being interested in our ice and electric light plant; he and his brother, A. G. Walker, our fellow townsman, holding controlling interest in both concerns. The funeral under the auspices of the United Commercial Travelers Association, of which order deceased was a member, will be held in San Antonio at 4 p. m. this (Saturday) afternoon.

Our Mr. Walker was called to the bedside of his brother, and was with him when the end came. He has the sympathy of our people in his bereavement.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Sunday's San Antonio Express carried the following:

"Another announcement involving out-of-town parties, but very much of San Antonio is that of Judge and Mrs. Edmond de Montel announcing the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn Jeanne, to Karl Browne Schilling, lieutenant engineering corps, United States Army, Camp Travis.

Miss de Montel who has been reared and educated in Texas enjoys a wide circle of friends, both in army and town society, having been a guest at the home of Mrs. John Herndon Ames and Mrs. Leta Williams Larn, and also in the home of her sister and brother, Captain and Mrs. Chan at Camp Travis.

Lieutenant Schilling is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Schilling of Wilmington, Del., and was graduated from West Point with honors, having been one of the fifteen distinguished graduates out of 300 student officers.

Prior to his entrance into West Point, Lieutenant Schilling was a student at the University of Delaware. Lieutenant Schilling is at present stationed at Camp Travis as adjutant of the Second Engineers.

YOUNG "OLD MAID"

By PAULINE MARSHALL

Pier street in the dim past had almost been a fashionable thoroughfare. Citizens in comfortable circumstances had erected upon this long avenue, lined with splendid examples of elm treehood, fashionable dwellings.

But as the city grew, with the incoming of hundreds of new industries, so did the street, and in the period of its growth it lost the splendid caste. The pier which gave its name to the avenue was sold. The property being leased to a brewer's establishment, the brewer razed four beautiful houses and on their sites placed a large stable. Corner residences became saloons. Signs of furriers and bakeries appeared in the parlor windows of several dwellings. Garages appeared, and the clang of the auto-truck and the chattering of the Upper-story Women's club combined were like incoherent blasts from Gabriel's trumpet calling to the long departed Pier streeters to come and whisper over the changes time had wrought.

It was upon this street that Teresa was born. She was, in her early childhood, a quiet girl, sort of reserved, an old maidish type that runs to long curls and thin legs, and if it hadn't been for Eleanor, next door, Teresa's girlhood, and even womanhood, would have been a dreary affair.

Teresa's mother was a stout, sad woman, whose only dissipation was relating lengthy accounts of the many heroic actions of her numerous ancestors and relatives. The father, "Old Dan," was a stout, slow, contented man, handsome in a masculine way, who satisfied his longing for work in the arduous task of construction foreman on a large apartment house uptown.

It was in this atmosphere that little Teresa grew up, ironing the seemingly million pieces of laundry, washing the numerous greasy dishes. Contrarily, her friend, Eleanor, upon reaching her twenty-second birthday, entered business college, dragging Teresa after her in a whirlwind of enthusiasm, acquired a beau, and settled in an office "where there wasn't much to do and lots of nice fellows around."

Teresa was now left to talk to herself, if she wanted to talk, as by herself she walked to and fro from the office, because Eleanor's young man did the honors for that cave woman. This solitude was a fertile condition for the secret yearning for her "dream-boy," which no young lady is free from. Even Kay Anderson, son of the Pier street garage proprietor, as was visibly attested by four parallel scratches upon his face, was unable to satisfy her dreams, when on one Christmas eve he endeavored to imprint a kiss upon her cheek.

In Teresa's office there was no eligible marriage material, as her strict elimination test had shown, and Teresa was sorrowfully tapping away at her machine when a strange, tall, dark young man passed by and entered the boss' private office. An hour later he had been installed at a desk, had introduced himself to Teresa as J. Bennington Dennett, had dictated a letter to her and had asked permission to take her to a dance that evening. And Teresa, thinking that at last her dreams were formulating into facts, accepted, and she wondered if he could hear her soft "Yes" over the pit, pit, pit of her heart.

That evening they floated on high ethereal heights to the twinkling notes of love music that carried them both, as they danced, along to the realms of rapture—and poor Kay Anderson sorrowfully gazed upon them, probably thinking, with a fierce joy and greater grief, that the welcoming river was nearby.

Kay, next day in the garage, tinkered over broken automobiles, while within him pounded a reddened heart; in the office Mr. J. Bennington Dennett sported a slightly discolored eye.

Teresa, in after years, explained the hasty change to sudden action following Dennett's remark, "By the way, I haven't kissed you yet." And the events, bringing in her mind Kay's respectful and devoted meekness, brought the realization that a "man of the world" was hard to keep. They have so many "affairs."

That evening Kay was lifted to heights of joy by receiving a call from Teresa, "to come over, if you wish." He did wish. As he stepped into the darkened hall, Teresa in a beautiful, heavenly blue creation, cheeks blooming like two pink roses, and eyes as bright as a child's when it knows that the Christmas tree is waiting, met him.

"Any, honestly, I didn't know you at first," he said. "You look—"

He said this in a thoughtful manner, with a note of worship in his voice.

"Now, last week, Mr. Anderson," began Teresa, "when you caught me in the kitchen with my old gingham apron on—what was it said?"

"I said I loved you," dropping his hat.

"Old gingham and all?" "Old gingham and all!" he stoutly answered, and, gently pleading, held out his arms. In the subdued light of the hall little Teresa hesitated for a moment, and then she proudly stepped forward, her face upraised. And as he held her there he told her of his wonderful new invention that would be the medium whereby the beautiful little cottage that he knew she longed for would some day hold the happy couple—Mr. and Mrs. Kay Anderson.

FATHER'S WISH

Mother—My! How the tears stream down baby's cheek when he cries. Father—I wish he'd shed enough to drown the noise he makes.

GOING AFTER THE REWARD.

The Boss—Be careful there, you'll run over that small car ahead of us! Chauffeur—That's all right—it's a road house—there's a bounty on 'em.

HIS ALIBI.

Well, my children can't blame me if I don't leave them a fortune. No?

No, all they've got to do is to look back and see the prices I had to pay for food and clothing.

AN IMPORTANT POINT.

Say, I'm thinking about going into a big deal with Blank. What kind of a man is he?

Oh, he's like a fish.

What kind of a fish—a shark or sucker?

HARD TO KEEP NO DOUBT.

She—Pardon me, but can you

He (butting in): Certainly I'll pardon you but this is no time for frivolity. I promised my wife I would be home early, just to show her I can.

NO AMATEUR STUFF.

The Browns have invited us to dinner.

Good. I'd rather eat there than anywhere else.

Why?

All vegetables they serve were raised by professionals.

SURGERY IN TOYLAND.

Doctor: In order to set your leg properly I will have to use your arms as splints.

OUT OF THE MOUTH OF BABES.

Papa built me a wagon today.

Is that so?

He must be smarter than he looks.

QUITE A HINT.

Papa wanted to know whether you were a good business man.

Have you any idea why he asked?

I guess it was because you never talk business.

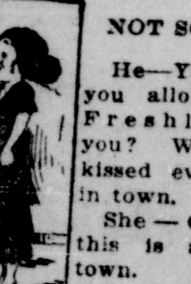

NOT SO BAD.

He—You admit you allowed Mr. Freshly to kiss you?

Why he's kissed every girl in town.

She—Oh well, this is a small town.

WITH THE FUNNY MEN

PASSING IT ALONG

"Do you ever suffer from loss of sleep?"

"I certainly do," said Mrs. Glipping. "You don't look like a victim of insomnia."

"I am, though. When the iceman, the telephone bell or something else interrupts Mr. Glipping's 30-minute nap after the alarm clock rings in the morning he's a perfect bear at the breakfast table."

Some Use for It.

"There are so many things that money will not buy—" somberly began Mortimer Morose.

"And there are such a heckofalot more that it will buy," interrupted J. Fuller Gloom. "that I am perfectly willing to accept at any time the $10 you borrowed from me more than two years ago."

Cerebral Superiority.

"Your campaign is said to have cost a great deal of money."

"I don't know a thing about that," replied Senator Sorghum. "The fascination of politics lies largely in the fact that the chap with the brains can sit back and let the boys with the money hustle without bothering him about details."

A Dark Suspicion.

"Black Boy, dey's sump'n funny 'bout de way you rolls dem bones."

"Yeah," said the successful manipulator of the ivory cubes. "It's de way I speak to 'em, son. Dey hears me."

"I'm gwine to look at dem dice an' if dey's educated like I 'spect dey is, dey ain't gwine to hear you say nothin' but 'good-bye.'"

The Angle.

"Opportunity," said the man with a big job, "knocks once at every man's door."

"Yeah," said the unemployed. "I was standing in the doorway when he came. He missed the door and got me in the neck!"

Which merely proves again that it all depends on the point of view.

The baseball game between the Hondo amateur team and Beaumont League team drew a nice crowd to De Montel Park Monday afternoon, and while the leaguers won, as they should, being professionals, for a while the crowd was kept guessing as the local boys put up a game fight. Up to the sixth inning neither side had been able to get a man across home plate. In the seventh with two men down and two strikes on the batter, with the bases full, a long drive down right field brought in several scores and the run-getting started. It was a piece of luck on the part of the visitors, and before the last man was down a total of six runs had been made. The score was too great a handicap and seemed to take the pep out of the locals and the game ended with the one-sided score of 11 to 3 in favor of the visitors. Eddie Mueller pitched a good game for the locals and had splendid support throughout the entire game.

THE LATEST.

Shortly after our arrival at Dallas, wife and I, including Mr. Cherry's family, received an invitation to a surprise party given by our youngest boy, James Caughey Horger, on Saturday evening, July 29th, in honor of his best girl, Velma Fraiser, who was just 20 years old that day. He had prepared the program, she having only a partial knowledge of the details thereof. In due time we, together with about thirty-five young people and nearly a dozen older ones, were on the grounds. After he had given me an outline of the program, and requested that I, when the proper time should arrive, speak to the audience, giving out the surprise, nature and details thereof. Well, I loaded my upper story with the best vocabulary and outline of an oratorical dynamite that I could command on so short a notice. Then he put up electric lights in the yard, and the young folks, with several not so young, enjoyed themselves in various innocent, jovial, jolly and romping plays, until nearly 11 p. m. when they were all seated and standing in an irregular circle, Caughey and his girl standing just inside the circle. Then I presented myself within the circle, in front of them, with a Methodist Discipline in my hand, and proceeded with my speech. Well, somehow it was a little out of my line, my best thoughts evaded me for the moment, and I lost sight of propriety, and walked rough-shod over every principle of conventional formality, and got cross-wise with all the rules of oratorical proclamation and away went, once forever, my "rep" as a platform speaker upon popular and secular subjects. But we were into it! And there was no time to correct mistakes, no place to crawl, and no way to retreat. So I continued, by saying in substance:

"My son has requested me to introduce to the audience the surprises to be presented at this party. The first is a cedar chest, about the size of an average trunk, the workmanship of Mr. J. C. Horger, neatly finished, carved and decorated, and a nice tray within, and a beautiful mirror on under side of the lid of the chest. Chest and tray filled with a dozen or more splendid presents. All of which are to be presented to Miss Velma Fraiser (?) This is surprise No. 1.

"Next, my friends, doubtless some of you came, not expecting a wedding here tonight, but for you there is a surprise.

"Then we presume that those present who came expecting a wedding, you too will be surprised when I tell you that I am informed that this couple has been married for hours, maybe for days, and possibly for months, the which we will not now say."

Whereupon, the rice came upon them from various sources, and an old shoe came whirling through the air, from which Caughey barely escaped by a dodge. When the young people were again quiet and order restored, I proceeded by saying:

"The greatest surprise, to my mind, is yet to be mentioned. I feel that I must frankly acknowledge to you people that the surprise of my life is just how a chap of this boy's appearance, deportment, reputation and character could win the heart and gain the hand of this beautiful, amiable and promising girl, is too much for me. Again I repeat this is the surprise of all surprises to me."

This came to Caughey unexpectedly, to which he replied, "Never mind, I'll play even with you yet." Whereupon the crowd hurrahed him with jocular taunts in apple pie order.

I then said, "You folks look like an intelligent people to me, therefore, I will now commit to your judgment for a decision as to which is the greatest surprise presented before you tonight." Then Caughey called for a guessing contest, promising a reward to the person making the closest guess to the actual date of their marriage. The guesses were written, names signed on slips of paper. A young lady won the prize, a famous stick of candy. Next, Caughey gave a detailed account of the difficulties that confronted him, a stranger all alone in Ft. Worth, trying to find some one who would vouch for the age of his girl, so that the County Clerk would grant the license. And then how, after some days, under adverse circumstances, he and his girl arranged for a pop call on a city some distance from Dallas, and on the way at a small town, they got off and hurriedly inquired for a certain preacher, and then another, and still another—all were gone! Whereupon, they called for the Justice of the Peace and they were married on the 13th day of May, 1922.

There, now! That's what I've been trying to tell all the time; namely, Caughey Horger's marriage, how, when and where—you see?

Well, when he completed his story, we were served with pineapple ice and birthday-wedding cake in abundance, and we all went home feeling that we had ALMOST been to a wedding.

FLETCHER'S FARMING

A Monthly Farm and Livestock Journal

Published in Hondo, Texas.

By FLETCHER DAVIS

Subscription, $1.00 per Year.

The editor was for more than four years an Institute Lecturer for the Texas State Department of Agriculture, then for more than two years an attaché of the Department's Bureau of Markets, during which time he established and edited the Market Journal and the Market Section of the News Bulletin, and for nearly a year had full editorial charge of the Monthly News Bulletin. He has also been a staff writer on one of the State farm papers for more than three years and has contributed frequently to the other State farm papers.

Mr. Davis hopes in his own farm publication to resume his labors for the farmers of Texas which were interrupted when the News Bulletin was discontinued, and hopes also to receive sufficient patronage from the farmers to enable him to render a greater degree of service than he has ever rendered before.

If you want to help him realize his hopes and desires, clip, fill out and attach money order or check to one of the below blanks and mail it to him at once.

* When the 37th Legislature's refusal to appropriate funds for the continuance of the Monthly News Bulletin of the State Department of Agriculture caused its demise, its then editor wrote in the farewell issue:

* GOOD-BYE—HOWDY!
* The News Bulletin is Dead! Long Live the State Rights Farmer!

* With this issue of the Monthly News Bulletin it ceases to exist—done to its death by a spiteful membership of the State Senate!
* But it is not my purpose to mourn its demise. For seven months I have edited the News Bulletin at a financial loss to myself because of the pitiful wage paid by this great State to its servant. But I have done it because of its exceptional opportunities for service and because the work was a labor of love.

* With the passing of the News Bulletin, it dies in body alone. Its spirit is re-incarnated in the State Rights Farmer, born, without hope of pecuniary reward to himself, of the unselfish desire of Commissioner Terrell to continue the valuable service heretofore rendered by the News Bulletin. In the columns of the new publication, unhampered by official restriction, I expect to find a broader and fairer field for service than was possible in the older.

* Good-bye, readers and friends of the News Bulletin. To those who want to be readers and friends of the State Rights Farmer, Howdy! And let's go!

* Yours for continued service,
* FLETCHER DAVIS,
* Editor Monthly News Bulletin.

* The State Rights Farmer mentioned therein failed to materialize for various reasons, Mr. Davis resigned from the Department and returned to his own publishing business, and after surmounting many difficulties, has launched, on his own responsibility and from his own printing plant,

* Fletcher's State Rights Farming.

* If only those whom Mr. Davis and the News Bulletin served, not to mention the thousands of farmers they were trying to but had not yet reached, will come to his support with their subscriptions and their advertisements they will make his paper a financial success and broaden its scope of usefulness far beyond the dreams of the state publication.

* Won't you who read this be of the number to come immediately to his help in realizing these hopes by sending him your subscription now. Get three of your neighbors to join you.
